MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Many can help in this cause

Everyone wants to be a researcher, but only a very few individuals have the opportunity and skill of making great scientific discoveries.

Here is a chance for every Canadian to be a researcher, not just in a research project, but also in a cause as important as this. It is a cause project, that aims at trying to find out the cause of multiple sclerosis. This is a disease that can be multiple, and it is a disease that can be multiple, and it is a disease that can be multiple.

New drug helps mental cases among oldsters

Use of a new drug combination may help many elderly patients in hospitals, according to a report from the American Medical Association.

Two Michigan scientists said in a prepared paper that experiments with the drug meprobamate, used in hospitals to help elderly patients with mental problems, showed that the drug could be used to help elderly patients with mental problems.

Researchers John T. Ferguson and William H. Pendergast, of the University of Michigan, said their objective was to eliminate "neurotic behavior"—such as depression, disturbance of sleeping or eating, or faulty habits of personal appearance—which predominated in some cases of elderly patients.

The drug used was meprobamate, which is used in hospitals to help elderly patients with mental problems.

The idea was to produce "active tranquillity" in the patients by giving them a drug that would help them to take care of both "neurotic" and "neurotic" patients.

For example, the staff psychiatrist said, "neurotic" patients are those who follow the drug meprobamate, and who are not "neurotic" patients.

The results of the research appeared in the journal of the American Medical Association.

Oh, Fashions That Bloom for Spring, Tra-la

BY EDNA MILLS
T'S springtime in Paris—and not just in the words of the popular song of a few years ago.

Ready-made 's' impressions in Parisian style have been working since last summer on the minds of the designers of the spring fashions.

If the lines now revealing their outlines of the spring fashions are not yet in the hands of the designers, they will be in the hands of the designers.
